THE MONEY QUESTION.

It may be a surprise to many, although it should be to none, that day by day there is a destruction of money in progress that more than offsets the coining of silver dollars. That this fact has escaped general attention and comment is a striking proof of the muddled condition of the public mind on the money question which is almost as important to-day as at any time in our history, although it is not at present the theme of fierce partisan discussion.

The figures given by the Controller of the Currency indicate that the amount of national bank money surrendered and destroyed during the month of May, over and above the amount of circulation issued by new banks and by banks increasing their circulation, was $3,170,611. For the year ending June 1 the net destruction of national bank money was $40,247,446.

The situation, therefore, is simply this: For the fiscal year which will close with the end of this month there will have been a destruction of money amounting to about $40,000,000—the figures of the past twelve months. During the same period the coining of silver dollars will be in the neighborhood of $33,000,000.

In other words, the coining of silver is not only not an inflation of the volume of money in circulation, but it is an offset, leaving still a contraction of $7,000,000 effected by the destruction of national bank money. This contraction in turn is offset by the coining of gold, but the excess of gold coining is no a large sum and does not keep pace with the increase of business and population. Indeed, when the loss of money from the wear and tear of ordinary use, from hoarding and from fire and flood is considered, it is questionable whether the amount of money in circulation is not stationary or decreasing.

Whatever the demerits of silver coinage may be, the silver dollars are serving as a substitute for the rapidly disappearing circulation of the national banks, and it is idle to talk about the suspension of silver coinage while it is performing its present mission. Indeed, the situation is stronger than in many years for the advocates of a more liberal coinage.

These facts ought to be carefully and thoroughly considered.—Albany (N. Y.) Journal.

THE BELL OF THE CHARLESTON.

The Contributions of the 1,000 Men Who Worked on Her Acknowledged.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The facts attending the pretty tribute offered by the men who built the cruiser Charleston are explained in a letter to the Secretary of the Navy from Congressman Morrow under date of May 31, in which he explains the voluntary contribution by the thousand workmen of $150 in small silver coins to be melted with the metal for the cruiser's bell as their tribute. Secretary Tracy has written Congressman Morrow as follows: "Dear Sir—I have to thank you for your letter informing me of the particulars relating to the metal of the new cruiser Charleston. Among the many and costly presents that have been lately made by towns and individuals to the ships of the navy, there is none that the department values and appreciates more than this spontaneous offering from the workmen of the Charleston. It was a patriotic and appropriate and graceful thought that led them to cast a permanent memorial of their united labors on the vessel named after one of the oldest historic cities of the Atlantic coast and built in the great metropolis of the Pacific, and it may be regarded as a type of the strength and unity of our republic, and the ring of the true metal in this bell will be due to the free contributions of the 1,000 men who built the ship and will be a constant witness to the independence and patriotism of our best citizens—the workmen of America."

ACT OF A MISER.

He Burns About $20,000 Worth of Greenbacks and Bonds.

FRANKLIN (Ky.), June 21.—The town was greatly excited to-night over a singular act of William J. Hilton, a wealthy and miserly merchant of this city. He has been acting recently and was supposed to be on his deathbed. To-day he ordered his negro attendant to take a nail keg which was in the room and place it on fire, telling him it contained some papers he wished to destroy. Soon after a friend of Hilton's went in and seeing in the fire place the smoldering remains of a mass of papers examined it and found the mass a large bundle of greenbacks and Government 4 per cent bonds.

Hilton has been separated from his wife for some time and a suit for divorce and alimony is now pending. He also has been great trouble with his son who is rather a prodigal. It is thought that he preferred to destroy the property to leaving his wife and son inherit it. As near as can be learned, about $30,000 were consumed to the flames.

Refused the Badge.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—At the public reception to-day the President shook hands with about 500. Among them was the National Encampment of the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America. They came last and Spofford, proprietor of the Biggs House, where the delegates stop, came forward and presented the ladies of the party. He then attempted to pin a badge of the order on the President's coat, but he was repulsed by the President. Spofford dropped the badge in his hat and departed in haste. This incident threw a gloom on the reception. There were no addresses and the hand was shaken simply. It was regarded as an attempt to bar the order as the order is violently anti-Catholic and anti-foreigners.

The Eastern papers speak of Theodore Winters as a "Californian." "Twas ever thus." In Eastern eyes everything good from the Pacific Coast is credited to California and everything bad to Nevada.

SWIFT SPOKANE.

Winner of the American Derby—Sorrento Comes in a Good Second—Proctor Knott Very Badly Beaten—A Good Race and a Great Crowd.

Chicago, June 22.—The greatest racing event in the American books has again been run. The sixth American Derby has gone into sport history, and the victor is the Montana wonder, Spokane. For once the bookies had the straight tip. The odds started at 6 to 5 against Spokane, 2½ to 1 against Proctor Knott, and 8 to 1 against Sorrento. Within five minutes the plungers battered down the betting to even money on Spokane. Ten minutes before the race Spokane's name was scratched from the books. Not a man would bet even money on the field against the hot favorite. The simple reason was that the Montana rolls were about ten times as long as the others. Spokane's champions bet everyone to a standstill and had $50,000 left to put on the pride of Montana.

Ed Venter, of St. Louis, placed $25,000 on Spokane at any odds he could get. He is thinking of buying the town to-night.

Anxious jockeys, trainers and "horse-men" turned out early this morning to size up the weather. It bade fair at 3 o'clock to be a perfect day. Before 4 o'clock, however, a damp, cold, foggy breeze from the lake loomed up, covering the rising sun with a leaden pall which fairly weighted anxious hearts into their owners' boots. When daylight fairly came it but served to make the beholders miserable. Rain could be expected at any moment from those sullen, grimy clouds.

Stumbling about among the sails, wearing half-asleep, race-course hangers-on, the Chronicle representative took a survey of things between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. Sam Bryant, discerned through the gloom after a pyrotechnic burst of curs words, had given previous warning of his presence. "Proctor Knott is no mud wagon."

"Of course he don't stand as good a show if it rains," replied General Sam to the reporter's question. "The track suits me now, hope it don't wet up."

Ah, here comes Spokane for his early morning exercise. Kiley, his jockey, can hardly take his eyes from his pet. He is anxious, too, about the weather. He, however, is wishing with all his little might that it will rain, he don't care how much Spokane, according to Kiley, can run in mud, the thicker the better. When Kiley spoke of the $50,000 and the blooded three-year-old colt which he will possess in a few short hours, if he brings Spokane in a winner, he dies his best to encourage the storm gods by screwing a tear or two out of each eye. "That's a good road for Spokane," he says, at the same time going with great pride at his "boss." "It's a little heavy track for those other sprinters," he adds contemptuously, "but 'Spoke,' he is good for plenty of mud. If it was a mile deeper I wouldn't mind a bit."

The other Derby flyers are brought out for exercise, and each shows up in good form. It is soon learned that Le Premier, Outbound and Sp. Lemo will be scratched, however. That leaves eight to start for the Derby prize of $18,000. It is just the right number, not too many nor too few. At 10 o'clock more than 1,000 people are clamoring for admittance to the park. The gates are thrown open and six hours before the event the Derby crowd begins to arrive. Faster and faster they come—trains, cable cars, "buses," wagons, on horseback, on bicycles and on foot they come. At 12 o'clock 7,000 persons have paid for tickets. At 1 o'clock 20,000 have passed the turnstiles.

Ah, here come the elite! Fully-bos, broughams, victorias, rockaways, landaus, vis-a-vis, drays, road carts, coupes, brewers and U-springs. A swarm, a deluge of them, hundreds upon hundreds of Chicago people, who represent the bone and sinew of Chicago's greatness, but who will take one little day in the year in which to make merry. New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Louisville are represented by prominent society people. Name them? Not any. There were 47,800 people who passed the gatekeepers. This article is not a directory.

As the hour for the great race drew near the crowds of excited betters about the bookies' stands became fairly crazy to put money on their favorites. Not half were accommodated. There were thirty book-makers, each with a corps of assistants, who took in the rolls of "long green" as fast as they could be counted, issuing in exchange therefor the ships of pasteboard which meant happiness or misery to their possessors. Sixty bookmakers could not have satisfied the demands of the crowd. As Spokane went from 6 to 5 to even money and then 5 to 6 the odds on the other horses gradually lengthened. The 2½ to 1 on Proctor Knott became 3 and then 4 to 1. Sorrento went from a 6 to 1 shot to a 10 to 1. The odds on the others changed so rapidly that $100 was bet at 1 to 12 on Retrieve, while a neighboring bookie was taking up odds of 30 to 1 on the horse destined to win third money.

Still the money piles up on Spokane. "I won't take you, gentlemen," says Kiley, and Spokane is scratched from his book. Kiley knows when he has enough. He refuses even money on Spokane and then $100 to $50 and finally $100 to $50.

But the horses are coming out. As each flashes by the 50,000 people in the grand stand and club house, he receives a cheer. Spokane, Proctor Knott and Sorrento are followed by roars of applause, which, starting from the weighing stand, swell in waves of applause from end to end of the vast concourse as the Derby favorites gallop by. They are ready to start. Down they go to the half-mile post, but the flag is still up. Again they try, and a groan goes up from the grand stand as it is seen they are too much strung out to be started.

The third time and they're off, Proctor Knott in the lead, Come to Taw second and Don Jose lapping Spokane in the rear, and gradually the bunch strings out. Down the stretch they come in the order of starting. All are going easily, Proctor Knott setting the pace. Around the turn the Kentucky favorite slows up and the horses begin bunching, Spokane, as before herding them on. The role is passed in practically the same order, Proctor Knott being already under the whip. Proctor Knott shows his nose first at the head of the stretch, and a shiver runs down the spinal column of Spokane's backers as the Montana stable colors flash last into sight, at least eight lengths behind at the head of the stretch.

But look! Proctor Knott is quitting. Retrieve laps him, passes him, so does Once Again and Sorrento and Come to Taw. Look at Spokane! See him coming! See him coming! Midway of the stretch he is second, opposite the betting quarters, under whip and spur, Kiley shouting like a deaf man, he pulls even with Retrieve and Sorrento. Still he gains. He'll win! He's won!—the great American Derby is won and by Spokane. The time is fairly good, agree the crowd, as 2:41½ is put up by the judges, who give second place to Sorrento and third to Retrieve. It is a sad defeat for Proctor Knott. He killed himself setting the pace and simply wasn't in the race at the finish. He was ten lengths behind the winner.

FIVE ACRES OF FLAMES.

Johnstown Again Unfortunate.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 24.—A sweeping fire broke out in the first ward at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. The flames spread rapidly and in an hour twenty houses were burning. All the engines in the place were called out, and the most intense excitement prevailed. Nearly all the houses burned were more or less destroyed by the flood. The wind is high and the fire is spreading rapidly toward Kenaville. It has gotten beyond the control of the fire department and now covers five acres.

DON'T DESPAIR.

"The Gods Help Those Who Help Themselves."

The following story told by Tom Fitch in a speech delivered in Los Angeles, may be profitably read by those croakers in our midst who think the country is no good because they are not rolling in wealth.

"A ship at sea had lost her bearings, and had wandered about until the crew were about famished for water. Whilst in this condition a ship hove in sight, all hands shouted for joy in their expectation of obtaining fresh water to moisten their parched lips and quench their thirst. As the ship approached it was discovered that she carried a foreign flag, and spoke some unknown language. They could not understand each other's word, but by signs the Captain made known the wants of his suffering crew. The strange ship answered by casting a bucket into the sea below, then bringing it up to their lips and sailed away, as if to tantalize the disheartened ship's suffering humanity."

"This apparent cruelty of the strange ship was a stroke of despair to the lost ship's sufferers. The last vestige of hope vanished. The cruel hand of death would soon relieve them from their awful sufferings. Whilst in this condition of mental agony a cry came from aloft. 'A ship, another ship!' The signal of distress was again hoisted."

"When the newcomer was within speaking distance the Captain of the lost ship shouted: 'We are dying of thirst, we are lost.' The glorious response came: 'You are in the Amazon, help yourselves!' 'Thus it is with us in Del Norte. We are unable to realize that the Amazon is all around us, and that all we have to do is to reach out, drink, and help ourselves out of our own rich resources.'"

WENT ON EARTH.

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not see any difference in cheap notions put up by cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at all prices? No med time in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD MAKER and every bottle that does not do the work will cost you nothing.

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

Facing the Truckee—The Aristocratic Avenue Riverside Driveway—Splendid Sewerage—Healthy Location and Safe From Fire.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia Street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town this Addition faces the beautiful Truckee River and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone Avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is it is more safe from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before Buying Elsewhere Parties will do Well to Look at These Lots.

RENO

Reno's geographical position is excellent. It is on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, only 154 miles from Sacramento, and 244 miles from San Francisco. It is the terminus of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad running south, and of the Nevada and California Railroad running north. It has two Flouring Mills, Planing Mills, three Nurseries, a Soap Factory, Reduction Works, and other industries. A great Woolen Mill and a Sash, Door, Blind and Box Factory, are about to be established.

Reno has the Bank of Nevada with $300,000 capital, and the First National Bank with $200,000 capital. It has two fine papers in the DAILY and WEEKLY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL and the Daily and Weekly Gazette.

Reno is the natural home of the Alfalfa, and therefore the great cattle headquarters of the State. Here are fed the prime beef for the California market. Reno potatoes are the best in the world, and she also excels in Strawberries and the small fruits. Reno Wheat took the first prize at the great New Orleans Exposition.
